

Brand new Macs Excite Computer Graphics and Design Students at El Camino Real High School

Reid Petersen's Computer Graphics and Design students at El Camino were astonished and amazed to see the new industry standard Macs when they returned to school this fall. ROP used federal stimulus money to upgrade equipment for classrooms. Here's what some of Mr. Petersen's students had to say.

"When I first saw the computers, I couldn't wait to use them!" -- Alex

"I was surprised, like holy snap! We got new computers and never thought we were gonna get things like this for maybe another few years." -- Mixcoatl

"I couldn't wait to go on them!" -- Erik

"When I first used these computers I was so stoked. They are pretty advanced and super nice. Thank you so much for providing us with this awesome equipment!" -- Martha

"When I first saw these computers I was shocked and excited to use them. Thank you!" -- Jake

"I couldn't be happier. Can't wait to explore!" -- Elias

"The first time I saw the new computers I was so excited to turn them on and use them. I know it will be a fun year using them." -- Hayley

"Mr. Petersen, I feel like I'm in some big fancy private school with these computers!" -- Mariel

"I couldn't believe it. I was all like 'Macs! That's awesome!' -- Jorge

"These Macs are pretty awesome because it was about time we got Macs and it felt like the school in now getting recognized." -Victor

"I was really excited! My best friend has a Mac and I used it once. But this is so cool! I can't wait to use the computer more and more!" -- Kirtsen

"When i first saw the Macs I knew that the computers would run faster and help us learn with better technology."-- Angel
